Interactive Writing to Support Reading for Classroom Teachers, Special Ed Teachers, Reading Recovery Teachers, DLL Teachers, Interventionists and Coaches

Strategies for teaching emergent and early literacy learners

4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Are you looking for one activity that supports phonological awareness skills, demonstrates concepts about print, incorporates phonics and high frequency word instruction, and develops reading and writing strategies? Interactive Writing does it all and more! This session will cover the how, when, and why questions related to interactive writing.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER Dr. C.C. Bates is an Associate Professor in Literacy Education and the Director of the Reading Recovery and Early Literacy Training Center at Clemson University, South Carolina. Her research agenda focuses on the use of digital tools to enhance and deliver professional development for reading interventionists and K-2 classroom teachers, which stems from her ongoing inquiry into the teaching of children who are having difficulty learning to read and write. Bates has written 30+ scholarly publications and developed the Record of Reading app for oral reading assessment, which has been downloaded over 250,000 times. She is married and has two children.
